8 Ways to Fight High-Stakes Testing

1. Sign the National Resolution on High-Stakes Testing
2. Share your concerns about standardized testing with your child’s teacher and principal
3. Explain to them why you want to opt your child out of testing
4. Write a letter to the editor about testing overuse
5. Share your message with your parent, religious or community group
6. Build a list of supporters who will work with you
7. With allies, organize a public forum on high-stakes testing
8. Bring a group to visit your elected officials
